Napoleon Textile Company

A Design House in Fabric

Est. India · Men's Shirting Fabric · Global Export

We are a Design House. Fabric is our medium.

Napoleon Textile Company is not defined by its looms or its export volumes. We are defined by the ideas that precede them — the study of proportion, texture, and pattern that results in fabric of rare distinction. Our clients are not purchasing cloth. They are purchasing a design sensibility, refined over years, expressed in every thread.

DESIGN FIRST

Every collection begins as a design concept — pattern, hand, drape — before a single thread is sourced. We are designers who happen to manufacture.

FABRIC INTEGRITY

Quality is embedded in our raw material choices, construction standards, and finishing — visible to the discerning buyer without explanation.

GLOBAL REFINEMENT

Serving markets across Asia, Europe, and beyond — formal and semi-formal shirting for the modern professional world.

The Brand Statement

"Where a garment begins, we begin. Napoleon Textile Company brings the rigour of a design house to the craft of shirting fabric — creating textiles that speak before the tailor cuts."

CORE BRAND STATEMENT

We position ourselves not against other fabric manufacturers, but alongside design houses, ateliers, and brands that lead with creative authority. Our buyer is a sophisticated garment maker who recognises the difference between fabric that is produced and fabric that is conceived.

Identity in Typography

The Napoleon Textile Company wordmark is set in a classical serif — a typeface rooted in European typography, refined for contemporary use. It carries heritage without nostalgia. Always letterspace generously. Never condense, distort, or apply effects.

A Palette of Cloth

Our colours are borrowed from the material world of fine shirting — the deep night of a formal suit, the warm cream of an unstarched collar, the restrained gold of a cufflink. Avoid saturated accent colours. Our restraint is itself a statement.

The Weight of Words

Two typefaces. One for thought, one for structure. A classical serif carries editorial authority and warmth. A geometric sans — used only in light weight — provides clean, international legibility for all functional text.

Display Serif · Light 300	Fabric of Distinction
Headline Serif · Italic 400	Where design precedes the loom
Label / UI Sans · Light Tracked	SHIRTING FABRIC · GLOBAL EXPORT
Body Sans · Light 9pt / 16pt leading	Napoleon Textile Company works with garment makers who understand that a collection's character is decided long before a pattern is cut. The fabric is the first decision. We make it the right one.

How We Speak

We speak with the quiet confidence of a house that needs no superlatives. Our voice is precise, warm, and substantive. We write for the professional buyer — informed, discerning, and short on patience for marketing language.

Photography & Imagery

MATERIAL CLOSE-UP Macro shots of weave structure, texture, and surface finish. Natural light only. No artificial gloss. Let the fabric speak through its own geometry.	CONTEXTUAL FORMALITY Fabric shown in situ — draped, folded, or tailored. Formal and semi-formal settings. Clean, uncluttered backgrounds: Ivory, Slate, Obsidian.
ATELIER REFERENCE Workshop imagery conveys craft and intentionality — never industrial scale. Show hands, tools, and process rather than machinery.	RESTRAINT IN COLOUR All photography is desaturated 10–20% in post. Avoid vivid backgrounds or props. The fabric itself carries all colour interest in any image.

Where the Identity Lives

Trade Catalogue The catalogue is our primary brand document. Full-bleed fabric photography, minimal text, generous white space. Season name in display type. Page numbers in tracked sans.	Correspondence All business correspondence — email, letterhead, quotations — carries the wordmark in Obsidian on Ivory. Body text in light sans. Salutation is formal; warmth comes through specificity.
Sample Cards Fabric swatch cards are printed on uncoated stock — never gloss. Collection name in small tracked sans. Fabric weight, composition, and count in a clean tabular layout below.	Trade Fairs Booth design is architectural — raw linen panels, steel fixtures, Obsidian-on-Ivory signage. No banners. No backlit displays. Let the fabric carry the stand, not the branding.
Digital Presence Website is editorial and scroll-based. Full-width fabric imagery, slow transitions. No carousels. No pop-ups. Contact via a single, calm call-to-action.	Packaging Fabric rolls wrapped in Ivory uncoated tissue. Sealed with a Champagne wax stamp bearing the NTC monogram. Simple. Unambiguous. Memorable.
